Labelling Recommendation (Ingredients List)

NaProFood recommends to use the term

"lupin flour"

for the flour type NaProLup products and

"lupin protein"

for the protein type NaProLup products for proper description in the ingredients list and, at the same time, in order to name the origin of the ingredient which will be helpful for consumers with potential sensitivity against lupin constituents.

More general terms like "flour", "legume flour", "plant protein" etc. should not be used.
